Theme

All the wondrous achievements and ideals of the past as well as all the infinite opportunities for the future are unfolding in the widest panorama ever envisioned by man. The knowledge and wisdom of past civilizations have combined with the hope and imagination of the present to provide unlimited vistas for us.

As students of Capuchino High School, we learn to judge these events and ideas in their proper perspective. Through our studies we learn to examine critically all points of view. Our extra-curricular activities focus our attention on every aspect of human relations. Participation in athletics broadens our viewpoint and encourages our best cooperative efforts. The blending of these experiences enlarges our capacity to view in their proper relation our roles as individuals, as part of the school, and as members of society.

With the desire to best express, in word and picture, the vast scope of this school year, we the staff have chosen as the theme of this yearbook, "Cap '61 in Perspective."

Dedication

Norman Friend

—a counselor of boundless energy, warmth, and insight.
—a teacher who has given his students an understanding and appreciation of the products of the human spirit which have moved the minds of men over the ages.
—a man whose knowledge, intellectual curiosity, and belief in the dignity of the individual make him exceptional.

We, the staff of Cap '61, do dedicate this yearbook to Norman Friend whose perspective is as broad as human knowledge and as high as man's aspirations.

They Led Us To Fame

Our distinguished band director and his talented wife, Mr. and Mrs. "B".

With a rolling of drums, a clashing of cymbals, the great Capuchino marching band goes onward to bring fame and prestige to our school. For eleven years the scene has been the same, with band director Ralph Bredenberg leading our band on to more and glorious honors, with Mrs. Bredenberg devoting hours of her time and a great deal of effort to making our precision majorettes renowned throughout the state.

In the school year 1960-1961, Mr. and Mrs. "B" helped our great band live up to its outstanding reputation, and then surpass it by going to unequalled heights.

Resplendent in their brand-new green and gold uniforms, the Cap marching band journeyed to Long Beach and captured first place in their division at the All-Western Band Review. Returning to San Bruno in triumph, they quickly won the support of the entire Peninsula in their campaign to represent the State of California in the Inaugural Parade honoring the 35th President of the United States, John Fitzgerald Kennedy.

Because of their musicianship, appearance, and honors the band was selected to represent our state in the parade, and began a monumental drive to raise the funds necessary for the trip and a one week stay in Washington D.C.

The honor of representing their school, community, and state gave the members of the famed Mustang band a thrill they will not forget. They spent a week in the snowbound Capitol in preparation for the great event, and filled anxious hours with sightseeing.

The climax to the thrilling week was the Inaugural Parade and the honor of marching before our new President.

Our talented musicians have brought the school great honor and recognition, and for this we, the students of Capuchino High School, thank all those associated with the band.

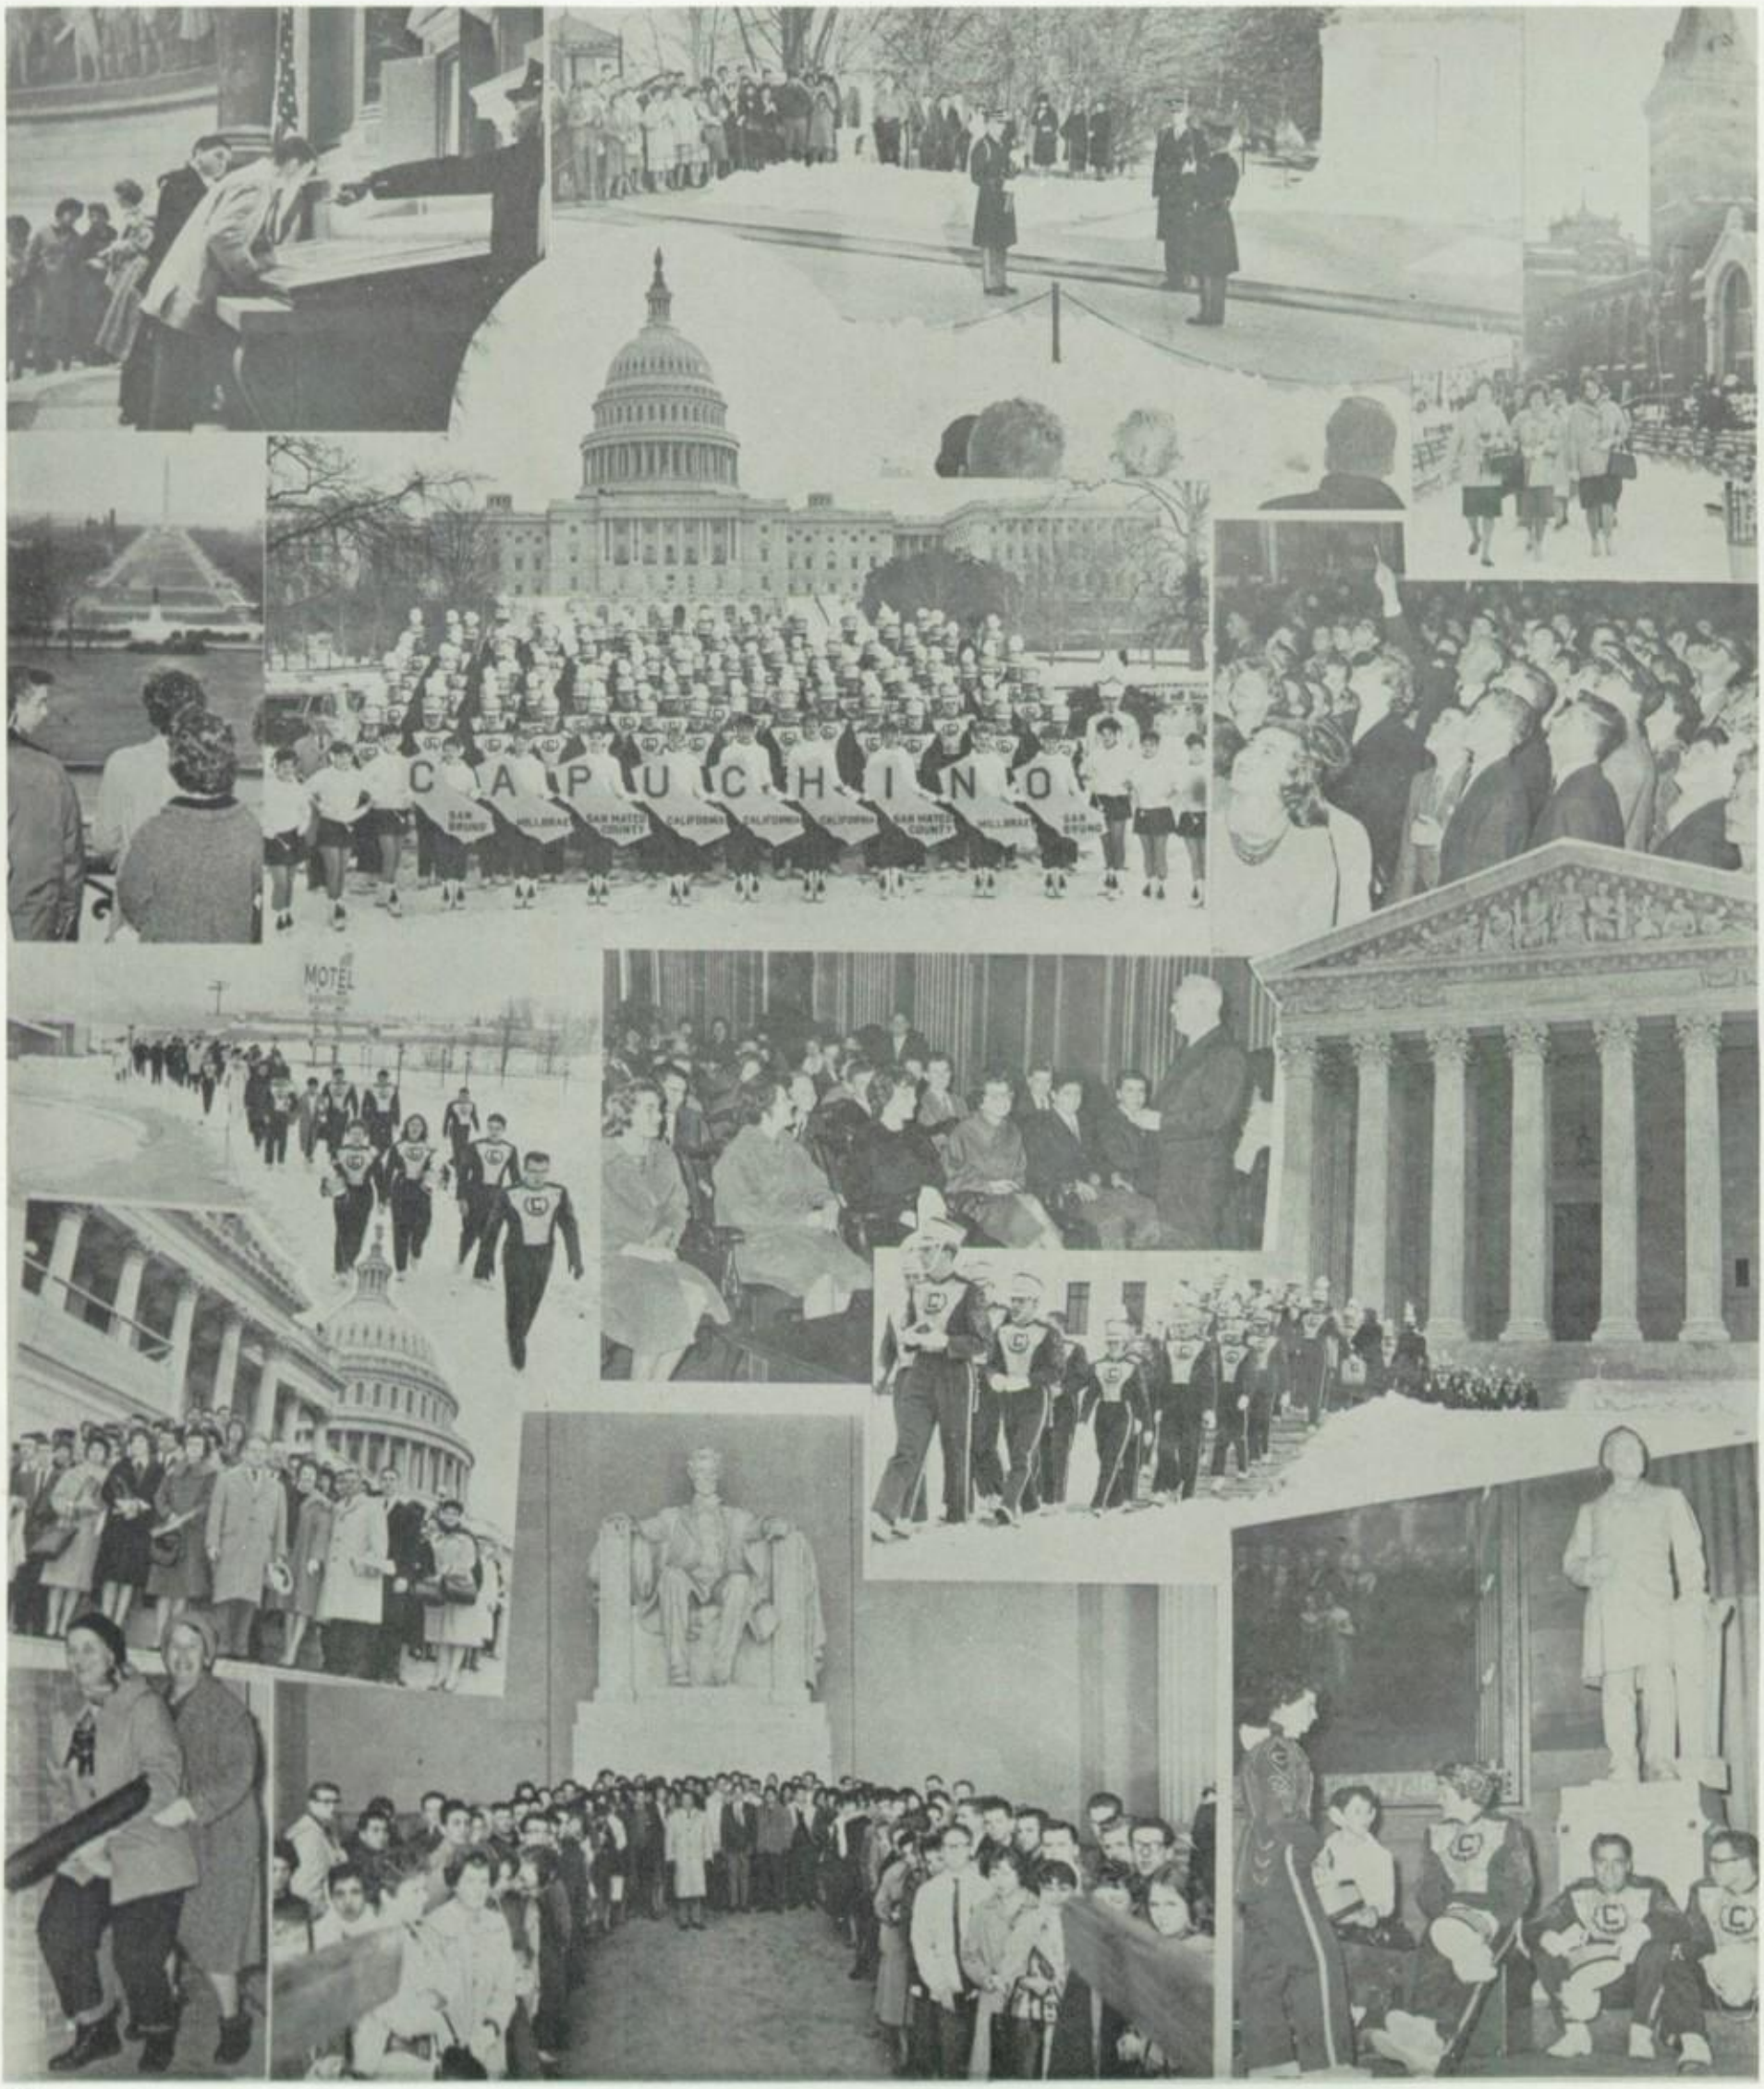
Champion Mustang Band



To Washington For Inauguration

Bob Chisholm, above, our high-stepping drum major proudly led Cap's band to national recognition.

Sharers Of Triumph

Percussion, Please

The Capuchino Pep Band, under nationally renowned director Ralph Bredenberg, gave basketball games all the spirit of the best college bands. With their enthusiasm and drive, which inspired the cheering section as well as the teams, they demonstrated why they were picked to go to Washington, D. C.

Capuchino Dance Band, another product of the professional Bredenberg effort, showed all the qualities of the nation's best bands. They played at several sock hops, much to the enjoyment of the entire student body. All the learning they acquired was well demonstrated by their consistently good efforts.

Embers Of Spirit...

This year, along with a new system of electing cheerleaders, different cheering routines were added during football season. Gymnastics were introduced and provided an effective change for the rooting section. Cheerleaders for football season were (L. to R.): Steve Schneider, (in back) Judy Brockway, Toni Bommarito, and head cheerleader Rich St. Clair.

Rich St. Clair and Steve Schneider

Toni Bommarito

HEY! HEY! LET'S GO! This was the cry from the eight varsity cheer-leaders. The addition of four voices is attributed to a new system at Capuchino. For the first time in Cap's history, cheerleaders have been elected for a semester term instead of a year. The first four varsity cheerleaders, Toni Bommarito, Judy Brockway, Steve Schneider, and head cheerleader Rich St. Clair, inspired the team during football season. The second set, Linda DeBattista, Elfrieda Fox, Shirley Belders, and head cheerleader Judy Brockway, took over during basketball season.

Forever Glowing

With the beginning of the second semester, Shirley Belders, Elfrieda Fox, head cheerleader Judy Brockway, and Linda DeBattista assumed office and led an enthusiastic crowd through the memorable season, encouraging our championship bound basketball team. As gymnastics were the highlight of football season, a new conception in outfits reflected the originality of the four new cheerleaders for basketball season. For the first time in Cap's history the head cheerleader was distinguished by wearing an all-white outfit, while the other three cheerleaders wore green and white.

Never Dying Spirit...

Pictured above and to the side are two examples of the spirited performances given by our frosh-soph cheerleaders.

Always Showing

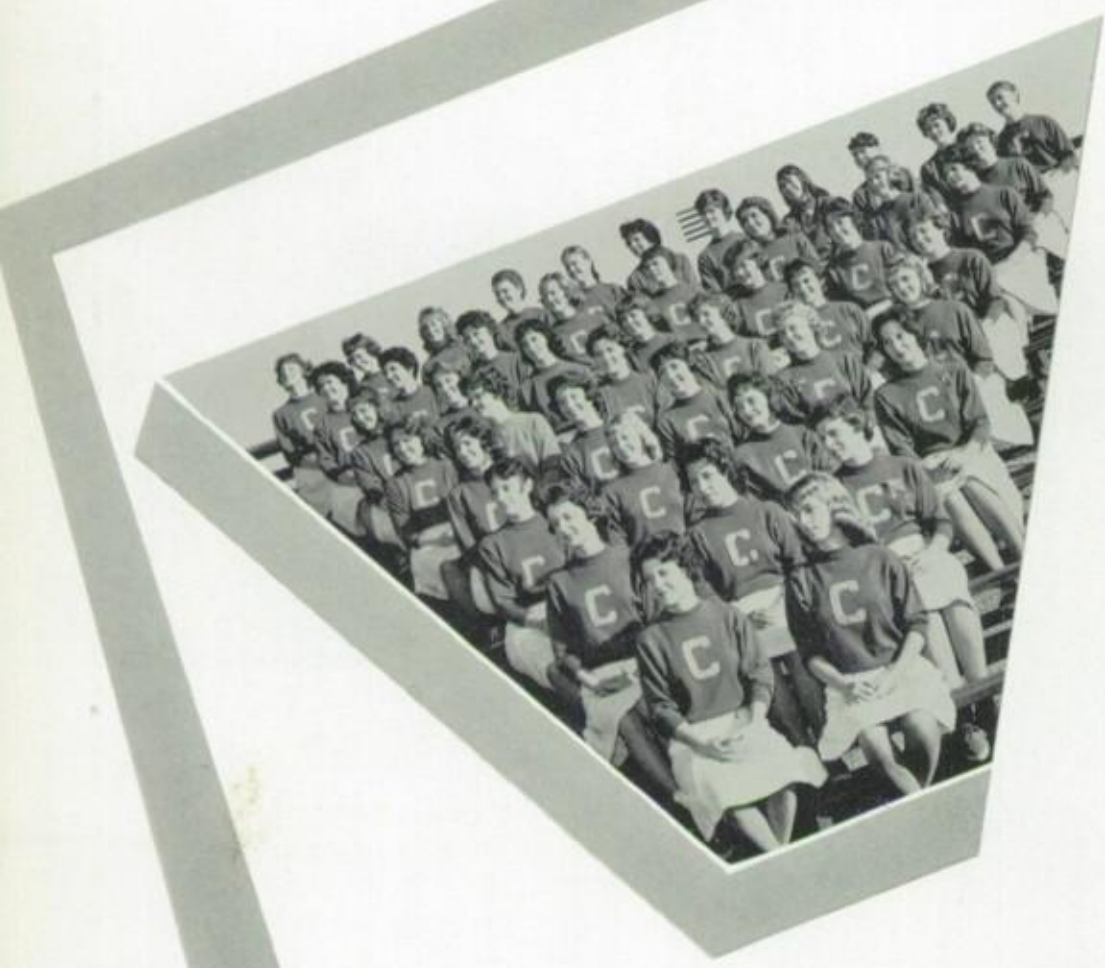
Through the turmoil and excitement of two colorful seasons, Capuchino's pom-pon girls expressed our fine traditional spirit with their lively, bubbling routines.

Sing The Phrases.



The Pep Club under the leadership of officers (pictured at right) Sandy Olson, Josie Gonzalez, Bonnie Asplund, Loretta Feininger, Karen Thannisch, and their advisor Miss Alvernaz has sold rally buttons and nitwit dolls for the student body. Proceeds from the sale of the dolls enabled the rally committee to buy a new uniform for our school mascot, the Mustang. The spirited Pepperettes added a great deal of color to both football and basketball games with their flying green and gold pom-pons.

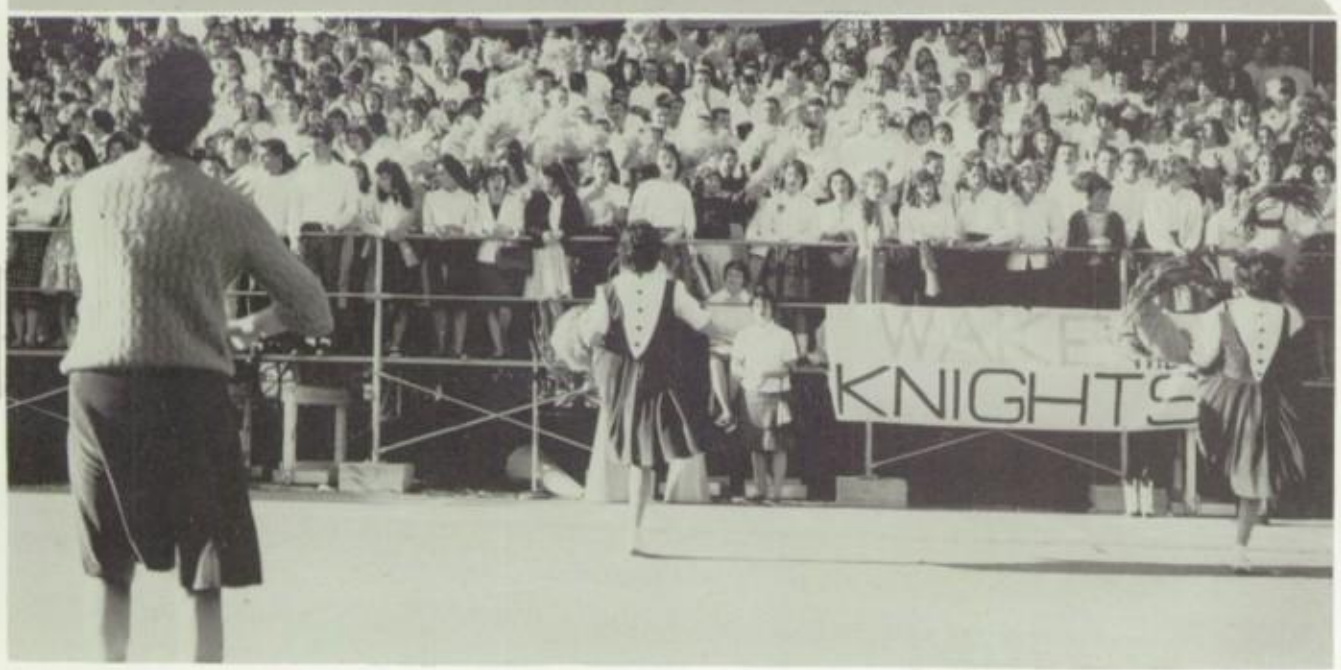
First Basketball Rally

A candid look at Cap's ever present spirit is shown here. Vibrant spirit at games and entertaining rallies helped bolster support for our teams.

Wake the Knights



Moments Before

The excitement of the game is mirrored by the facial expression of majorette Evelyn O'Brian.

Tension mounted during the first round of the Peninsula Basketball Tournament as a victory over the Menlo-Atherton Bears seemed within reach.

"We did it!" shouted the crowd as the mighty 'Tangs rolled on to defeat a highly rated Bellarmine team.

The second mighty victory over Bellarmine made Cap a championship-bound team.

Triumph

Saturday night the team trailed the Washington Huskies for three quarters. Then Cap's mighty 'Tangs surged ahead. Suddenly it's "Moments Before Triumph" and then . . .

In their fourth attempt to capture a tournament championship, to the Cap rooters came the fulfillment of the long sought first place. Their hopes were expressed in the power of their lungs as their voices echoed majestically through the Stanford gym. Through yells, the rooting section and team were united and a forceful feeling of determination permeated the gym. For its excellent cheering and sincere support of the team, Cap's rooting section was highly complimented by the Stanford Rally Commission, which termed the section as, "the best we've ever seen!" For a tremendous display of spirit and support, Cap received its fourth well earned first place rooters' trophy, to make the triumph complete. At the close of the tournament one theme prevailed—We came, we attempted, we commanded in all fields.

. . . a wild crowd—almost delirious! They're yelling, they're cheering, "We won—VICTORY!"

To the team who played with victory in their hearts goes the first place trophies so well earned and deserved. To the cheering section goes the fourth first place rooters' trophy and all the wonderful memories of a Peninsula Basketball Tournament Championship. For all this we say, "THANKS men, for the greatest victory yet!"

"Years Ago"

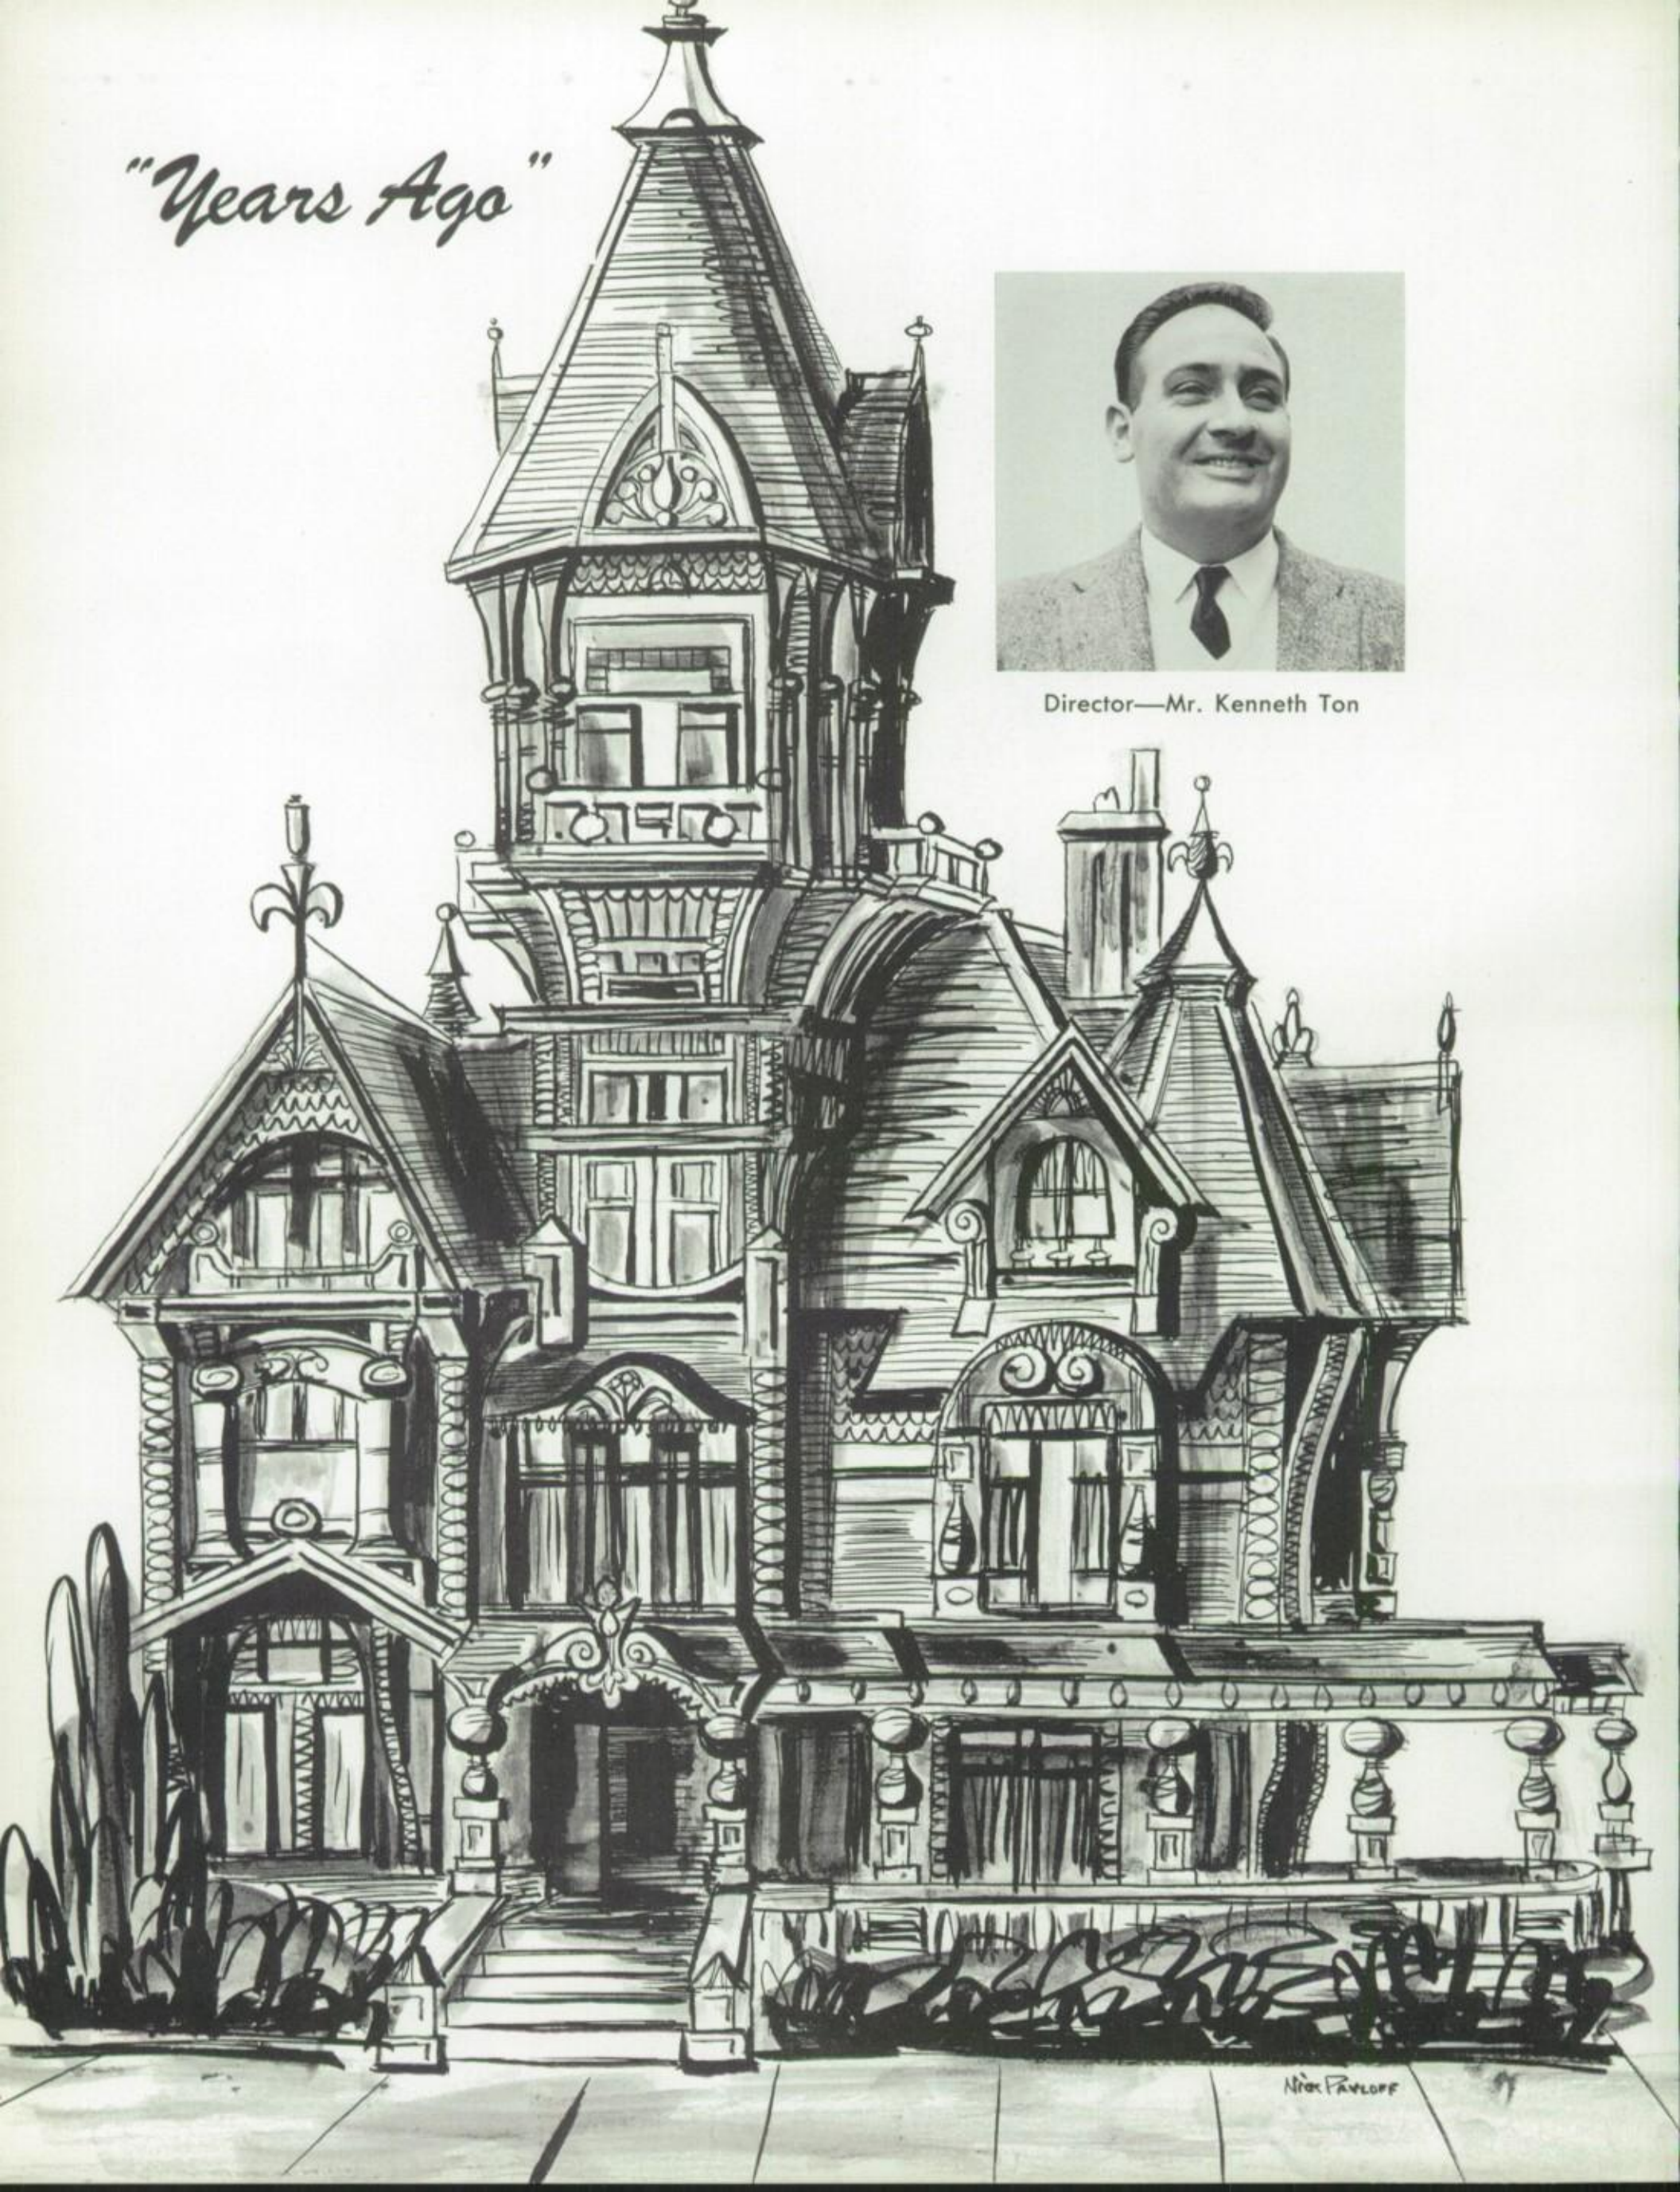
Director—Mr. Kenneth Ton



Mr. Jones, who has his heart set on Ruth's becoming a physical culturist, invites Miss Glavin and Mr. Bagley over for an "enjoyable evening".

During a violent argument, Mr. Jones, Ruth's father, shows his determination to prevent Ruth from leaving school in order to become an actress.

In his first year as the head of the drama department, Mr. Kenneth Ton presented the sparkling production "Years Ago" to a delighted Capuchino audience. The well-known Broadway play tells the success story of actress Ruth Gordon and her struggle to attain stardom. The cast included the following Capuchino students:

RUTH GORDON JONES	Susan Still
CLINTON JONES	Harley Delaplane
ANNIE JONES	Marge Sheppard
KATHERINE FOLLETT	Sharon Newman
ANNA WITHAM	Frances Cox
FRED WHITMARSH	Jack Corkey
MR. SPARROW	Dave Ausman
MR. BAGLEY	Mike Bunker
MISS GLAVIN	Virginia Walthew
PUNK	The Cat
STUDENT DIRECTORS	Faith Gunnett
	Bob Coleman

While preparing for her departure to New York and a new life, Ruth bids one of her friends a fond farewell.

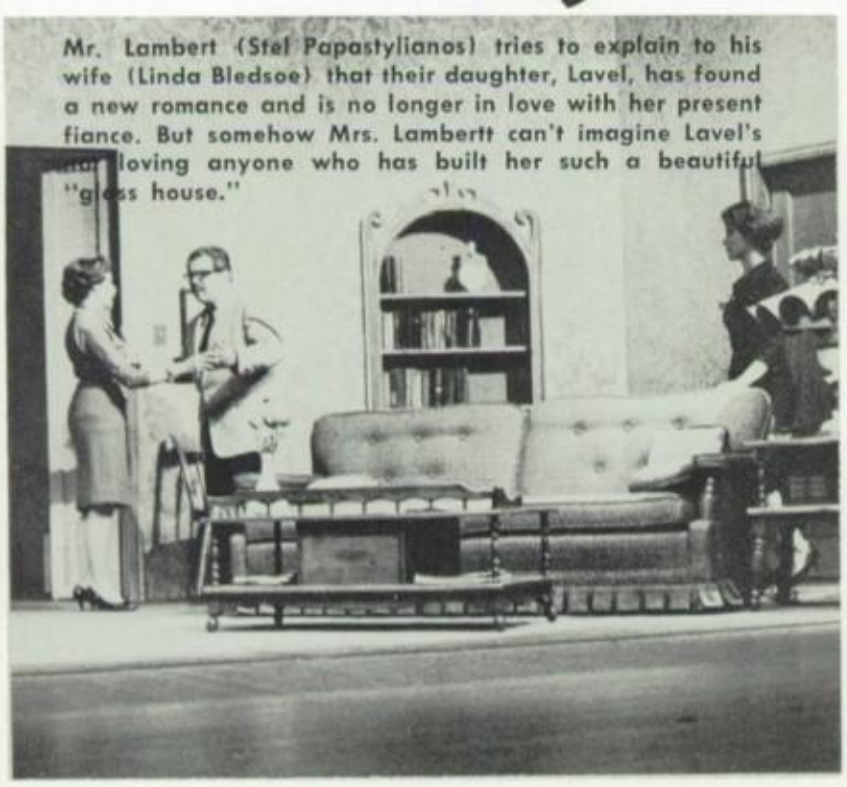
Under the skillful direction of Mr. Stanley Grosse, the production staff created the set pictured above, provided the audience with a pleasant, casual, home-like feeling and united the plot and thought of this year's second play, "Lilacs In The Rain," presented March 10 and 11.

"Lilacs In Rain"



Mr. Lambert (Stel Papastylianos) tries to explain to his wife (Linda Bledsoe) that their daughter, Lavel, has found a new romance and is no longer in love with her present fiance. But somehow Mrs. Lambertt can't imagine Lavel's [illegible] loving anyone who has built her such a beautiful "glass house."

Mrs. Lambert tries to persuade Lavel not to go out with this new "icky fellow," as Shauna (Kathy Fontana) helps her big sister with the finger nail polish.

Lavel (Faith Gunnett) tells Charles Attabury (Mike Posey), her fiance, that she must confess there is "someone else." Charles, as can be seen by his expression, takes all this "with a grain of salt."

In an attempt to become better acquainted with Letty (Jennie Loyer), Raymond Connelly (Bob Holdsworth) is bodily ejected from the house. Upon his return he queries, "Does your father throw your boy friends out the window all the time?"

"Lilacs In The Rain"—a warm, human comedy cast the following Capuchino actors:

Julia Lambert ..... Linda Bledsoe	Bill Smith ..... Bob Coleman
Lavel Lambert..... Faith Gunnett	Mabel Attabury ..... Pat Rostege
Laurie Lambert ..... Pam Edwards	Letty Lambert ..... Jennie Loyer
Shauna Lambert ..... Kathy Fontana	Charles Attabury ..... Mike Posey
John Lambert ..... Stel Papastylianos	Raymond Connelly .... Bob Holdsworth
	Paul ..... Jack Scranton

"Lilacs In The Rain" is the sparkling story of Mr. and Mrs. John Lambert and their four lovely daughters, Lavel, 22; Laurie, 16; Letty, 13; and Shauna, 10. The girls' boy problems and family problems all lead to hilarious conclusions which depict the typical modern family.

Lavell Lambert has a friendly chat with her fiance's mother, Mabel Attabury (Pat Rostege).

Finding out there will be a "new arrival," possibly a long awaited boy baby, Mr. Lambert (Stel Papastylianos) reveals he would rather it were a girl, using the hackneyed expression, to the complete disgust of his family, that "girls are like lilacs in the rain."

Choir Director

The night of February 4, 1961, will long remain in the memories of these seniors seen dancing to the music and lyrics of "Graduation Day."

Throughout the evening couples such as Sandy Orcutt and Rich Goolsby enjoyed quiet conversations set off by soft lights and enchanting music.

Winter Champagne

The theme of this year's Senior Ball, Winter Champagne, expressed an effervescent mood and created unforgettable moments which will long be treasured as the most enchanted evening of our senior year.

The photographer captured these couples (L. to R.) Toni Bommarito and Al Pinn, Bonnie Reitz and Stel Papastylianos, Dorlane Neary and Steve Schneider, as they danced mistily on into the evening.

Ingo Baursachs and Art Solomon with their dates Ulli Klopf and Darlene Sachs prepare to leave for the bright lights of San Francisco.

A pause in the music brings couples back to their tables.

Slow, soft music wasn't the only sound heard; the beat was often picked up as demonstrated here by Kathy Smith and her date.

Orchestra

Under the baton of Otto Mielenz, our excellent orchestra played for the annual Christmas Concert which was widely acclaimed.

OFFICERS, Standing: (L. to R.) Phyllis Tuttle, secretary; Kathy Neal, treasurer. Seated: Dale Chapman, vice-president; Joyce Thompson, president; Keith Chapman, librarian and social chairman.

Mr. Mielenz achieved outstanding quality during his first year as orchestra director.

The students of Capuchino and our community have been learning and benefiting from the American Field Service for the past five years. Through the facilities of the American Field Service program, we send and receive exchange students each year, thereby learning about other places and people through the actual experience of living with them.

The nation-wide American Field Service program was founded on the high school level in 1950 for the express purpose of helping tomorrow's leaders to a mutual knowledge, understanding and affection for different nations of the world and their people. The Associated Students of Capuchino have sent twelve students to foreign countries and have welcomed twelve students to our school from different countries since the program began at Cap in 1956. With the continued help of the American Field Service, we shall further progress to a better understanding of our fellow humans and to view our world in a truer perspective.

Phi Beta Cap

Phi Beta Cap is an honor society which originated at Capuchino two years ago. It provides recognition for students who attain high academic stature. Entrance requirement is a final report card with no grade lower than "B".

The large membership in the fall and spring semester chapters of Phi Beta Cap demonstrated the high standards of accomplishment maintained at Capuchino. The annual Phi Beta Cap Dinner honored these students and their parents.

Golden "C"

Quill And Scroll

The Quill and Scroll is a national honor society for outstanding high school journalists. Membership requirements include high journalistic achievement and a scholastic rating in the top third of the school. Advisors Robert Grimes and Colburn Palmer awarded membership to (L. to R.) Philosophy Club

The Philosophy Club under the guidance of Charles Tyner has undertaken many projects. The club attended lectures, and raised money through concessions for their annual essay contest. OFFICERS: Bob Houston, president; Ken Odell, vice-president; Sandy Orcutt, project chairman.

AFS Club

In its first year, the American Field Service Club has taken part in many activities. Selected as officers were Tim Ramsey, president; Sarah Jenkins, vice-president; Barbara Atwood, secretary; and Ulli Klopf, treasurer. They led the club in presenting a successful Jazz Night. The proceeds of this program will help bring a foreign exchange student to Cap next fall. Janice Robison acted as club advisor.

Photography Club

The Photography Club has encouraged students interested in the field of photography to take pictures of various activities at Cap. Advisor Andrew Jezycki has shown members many new approaches to picture-taking.

Organize

Science Club

Dale Chapman, president; Phyllis Tuttle, secretary; Ken Odell, publicity; and Sarah Jenkins, field trip reporter, have guided the Science Club in a very active year. Besides individual projects, Advisor Richard Carpenter has led the club on two field trips.

Future Nurses Club

The Nurses Club under Doris Byers, advisor; Betty Campbell, president; Cheryl Lawry and Judy Pattaja, vice-presidents; Pat Purdy, secretary; and Ginny Gilbrech, treasurer, has planned and carried out many activities. They hosted a Mother-Daughter Dinner, heard guest speakers from the Armed Forces, and raised money for a scholarship.

Journalism Club

Under Advisor Colburn Palmer the Journalism Club presented extra activities for students interested in the field of publications.

In Clubs

French Club

Judy Jackson, president; Sue Cunningham, vice-president; Bonnie Feeney, secretary; Sue Eiermann, treasurer; and Advisor Frances Marquis have seen an active year as leaders of the French Club. Movies shown during lunch period provided funds which were donated to the Care Foundation.

German Club

The German Club, one of the most active groups on campus, attended foreign language movies and sampled many unusual German foods. Slides taken in Europe were featured at meetings. Advisor to the club was Jens Shurk and officers were Dave Nebergall, president; Dave Morena, vice-president; Dolores Heszeler, secretary-treasurer; and Kathy Ellery, historian.

Spanish Club

A field trip and dinner in a foreign restaurant highlighted the activities of the Spanish Club. Steve Schneider, president, and Anne Biggles, secretary, worked under the guidance of Advisor Stanley Medders.

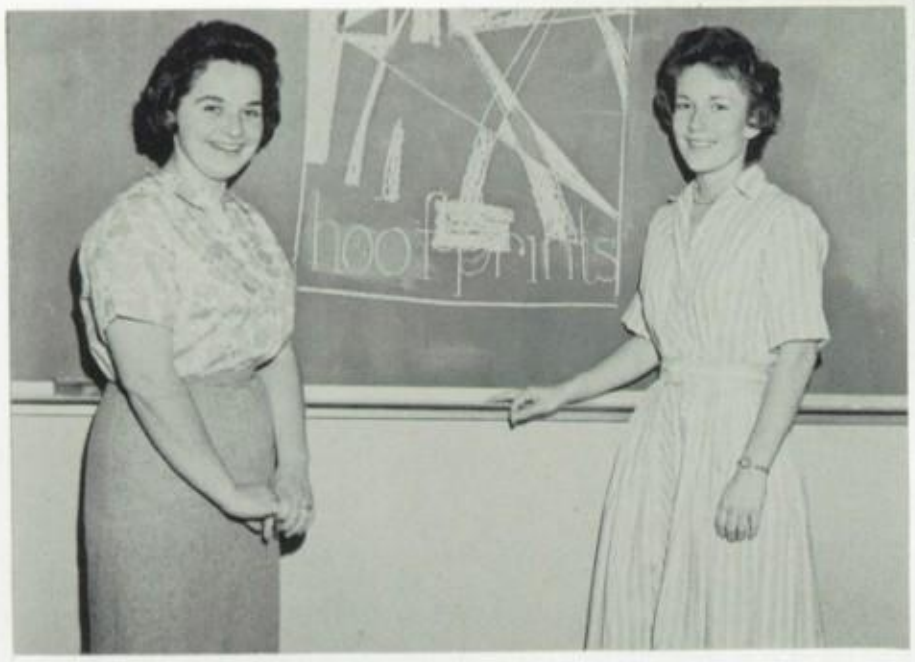
Hoofprints



Editors Ellen Luthi and Sue Sanford discuss plans for this year's Hoofprints. A literary digest, Hoofprints presents the best creative writing produced at Cap each year. Poems, short stories, and essays comprise most of the material published in the magazine which is produced by the Publications class.

Admiring their handiwork, the just completed design for the Hoofprints cover, are Staff Artists Karen Lissol and Nick Pavloff.

Through their excellent literary contributions, these students have helped make Hoofprints a success.

Stampede

The bi-weekly Stampede serves the student body as the official publicity and news organ of Capuchino. Because of the staff's alertness and originality, the Stampede reached new heights.

The Stampede's staff of fine reporters gather around Exchange Editor Dot Marlow, holding Stampede sign, to discuss future issues.

Cap '61

"Does anyone know how to fly this thing?" Jackie Rothstein, Editor-in-Chief, and Tom Ogg, Production Editor.

"Is that a mountain out there?" Toni Nessi, People's Editor, and Linda De Battista, Activities Editor.

"Are we off the ground yet?" Stel Papastylianos and Roger Johnson, Editorial Staff.

"Does this plane stop in Hawaii?" Elfrieda Fox and Ellen Luthi, Activities.

"Good thing I wore my glasses!" Robert Grimes, Adviser.

THE STAFF OF CAP '61

"Does anyone have a screwdriver?" Ingo Baursachs, Sports Section, and Art Solomon, Senior Editor.

Toasting Cap '61 Nancy McIsaac, Activities, and Dan Bolton, People's Section.

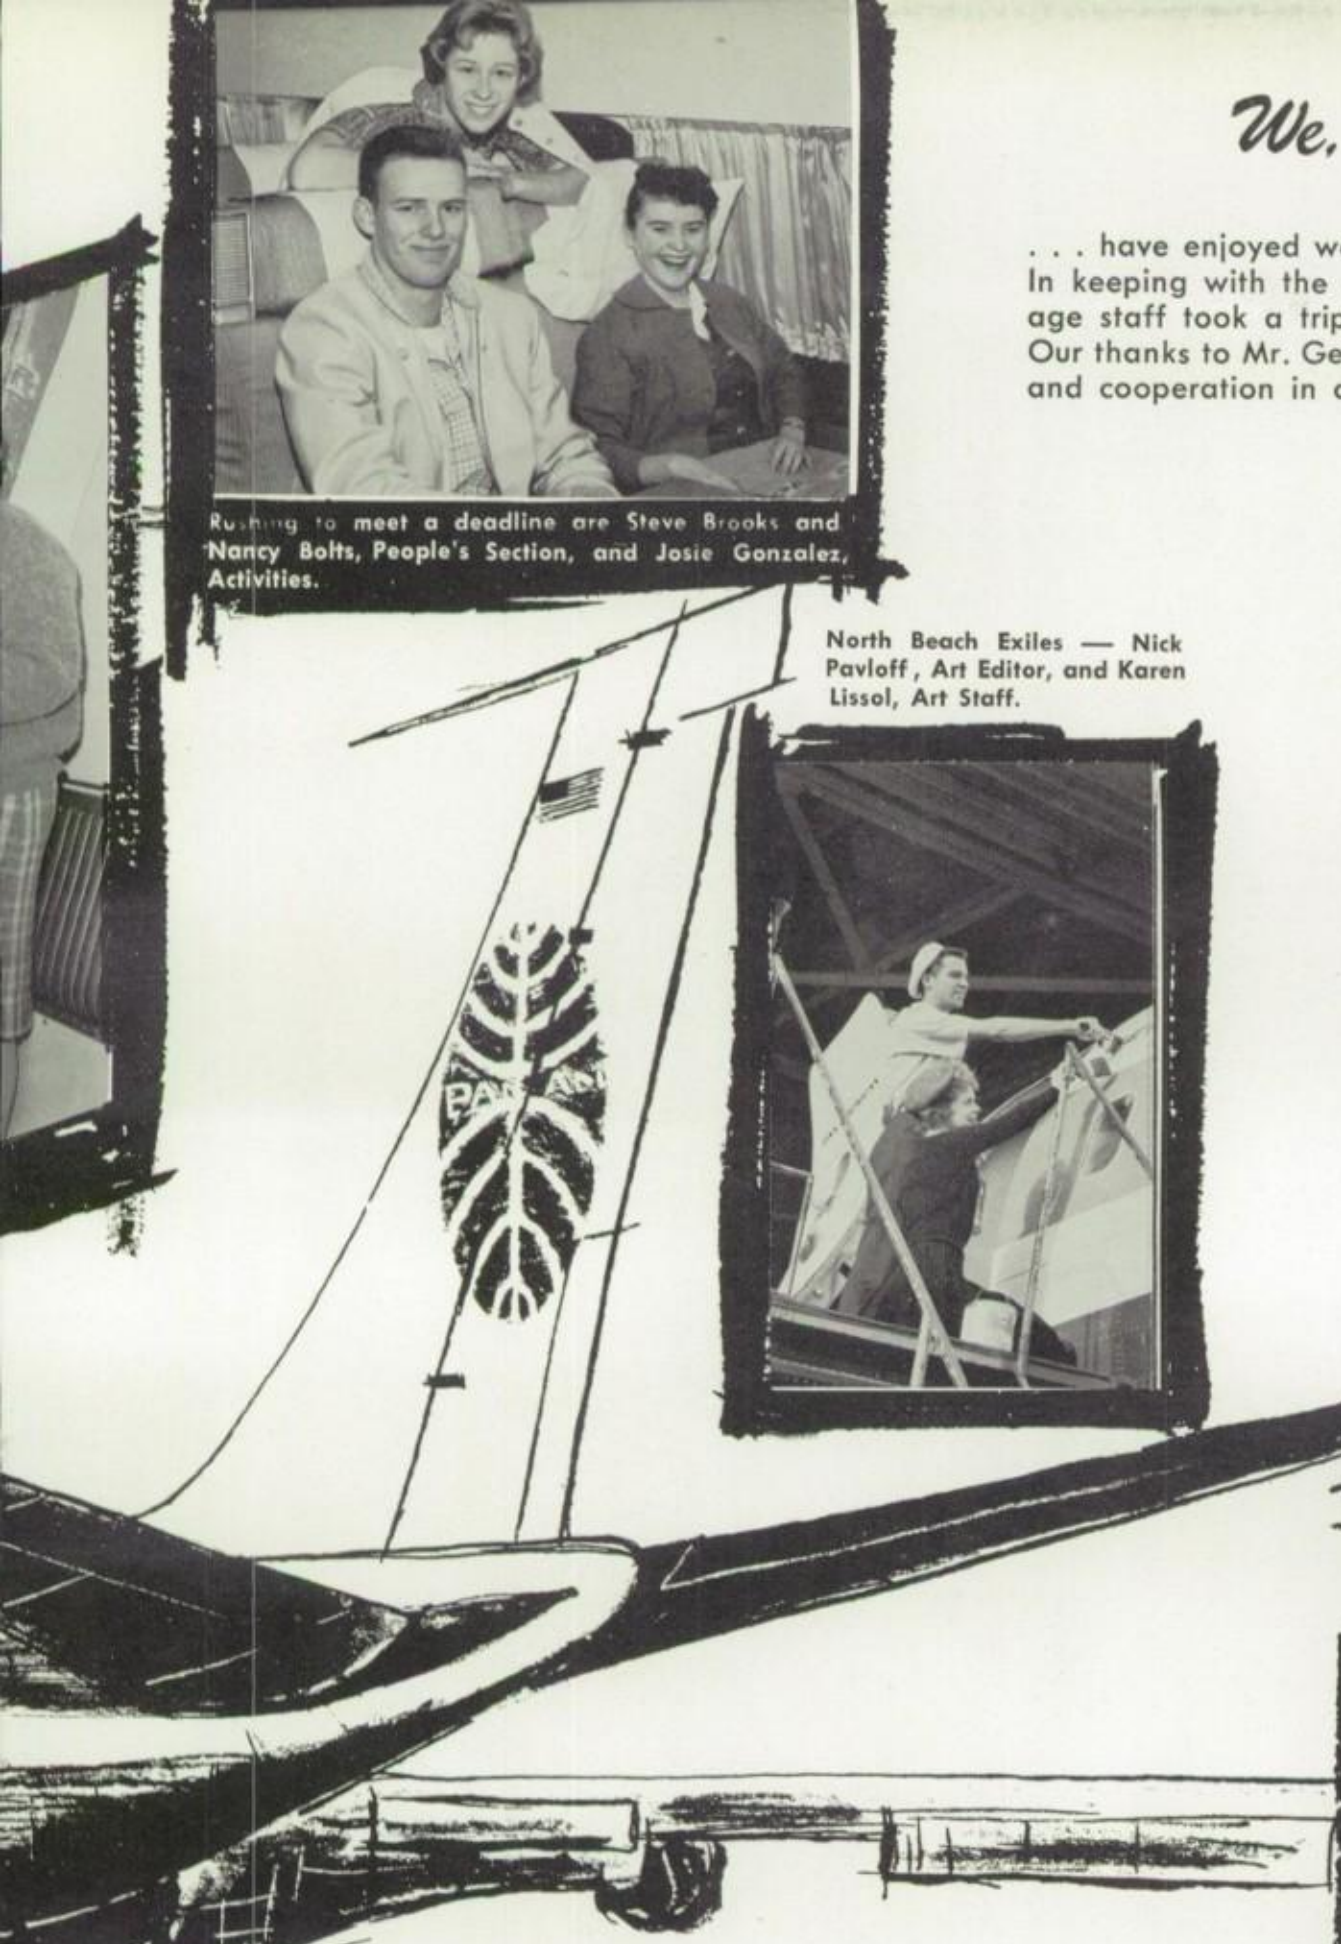
We, The Staff...

. . . have enjoyed working on this book for the past year. In keeping with the modern theme of "Cap '61", the jet-age staff took a trip on a Pan American Boeing 707 jet. Our thanks to Mr. George Campbell of PAA for his courtesy and cooperation in arranging for the use of the airplane.

Rushing to meet a deadline are Steve Brooks and Nancy Bolts, People's Section, and Josie Gonzalez, Activities.

North Beach Exiles — Nick Pavloff, Art Editor, and Karen Lissol, Art Staff.

"We forgot our parachutes." Tony Medrano and Mike Bunker, Sports Section.



"These are your stewardi speaking." Pauline Medellin and Sue Sanford, Faculty Editors.

We made it through the safety check!" Dennis Hendrickson and Terry Emfinger, Sports Editors.

"What . . . a ticket to Millbrae?" Diane Croft, Business Manager, and Linda Bauguess, Senior Editor.

Block 'C'

Our Men's Block "C", under the capable leadership of officers (L. to R.) Tony Medrano, sergeant-at-arms; Dennis Hendrickson, president; Mike Claudon, treasurer; Jim Locke, vice-president; and Terry Emfinger, secretary, has completed another very successful and event-filled year.

Advisor Don LaClergue led the Block "C" in planning the annual Senior-Faculty Game, ushering at many assemblies and rallies and adding much to the fame and honor of Cap's name.

Enthusiastic! Friendly! Sincere! These are some of the characteristics of this year's Girls' Block "C" members.

Under the guidance of Sylvia Kaplan the girls planned, carried out, and enjoyed a very successful Senior-Faculty Game, Block Playday, Joint Block Dinner, and Senior Farewell.

'61 has been a tremendous year for the Girls' Block "C" whose officers were Top Row: (L. to R.) Sandy Hazelwood, second semester treasurer; Betty Campbell, second semester vice-president; Carol Switzer, second semester president; Caren Switzer, second semester secretary; and Sue Sanford, second semester GAA representative. Bottom Row: Bev Burton, first semester vice-president; Toni Nessi, first semester president; Charlene Serrato, first semester secretary; Carol Murray, first semester GAA repesentative. Not pictued, Pat Parker, first semester treasurer.

Pat Daniels
Olympic Competitor

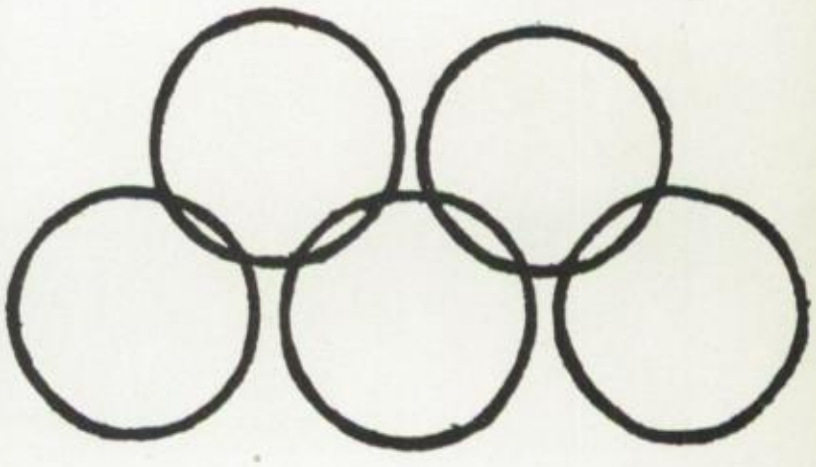
In the traditional United States team attire, Pat reminisces about her trip to Rome.

Long hours of strenuous training and great determination were the principal factors which enabled Pat Daniels, Cap senior, to participate in the 1960 Olympic Games.

Pat demonstrates how she set the American record in the 880 yard dash.

The start is an important element in determining how well an athlete runs.

Even the best performer requires a time out.



Cap's Active

Miss Betty Lumpkin, GAA advisor, is looked upon with respect and admiration by both students and teachers. Her constant efforts to aid the girls in every way possible is the reason that GAA functions as effectively as it does.

GAA Organization

Under the supervision of Gloria Alvernaz and Sue Perry, tumbling, which was tried for the first time in GAA, was acclaimed a huge success by all who participated.

Nearly one hundred energetic Cap girls joined in the fun at the GAA Awards Banquet. Volleyball was only one of many exciting activities that took place.

Practice, practice, practice! That was the key word in staging an excellent modern dance production. Above, a rehearsal and below the final results after many long and arduous hours of continual practice. Due to the capable assistance of PE teachers Sylvia Kaplan, Martha Chase, and Gloria Alvernaz, Cap's first modern dance production was termed a tremendous success.

Mustang Mentors

COACHES

"Little Julie" as Dave Field was called in college, was a sensational 155 lb. defensive halfback for the Stanford Indians. He became Mustangs' head coach in 1958, and was named the Peninsula League's Coach of the Year in 1959.

"Dapper" Don Dake, as the team has nicknamed him, was an all-around athlete at Washington State University where he starred in baseball. Mr. Dake came to Capuchino in 1957 and took over as end coach in 1958.

The newest addition to the coaching staff this year was Byron McCaughey who played college ball at Iowa State University and before coming to Cap coached at Susanville High.

Carl Lueder, the Mustangs' "hard nosed" line coach played end at the College of the Pacific where he made the All-State Conference Team. Before coming to Capuchino in 1958, he coached at Merced High and had the honor of coaching the Valley All-Stars.

Burly Young Broncs

Frosh coaches were Julian Miguel and Bill Greenleaf.

Ken LaCrosse's formula for victory is hard work and determination. This recipe for success apparently works. For this conscientious coach has guided his 30's to five consecutive league titles, a truly magnificent record and a credit to his fine leadership. Ken LaCrosse is the first lightweight mentor in Peninsula League history to be chosen "Coach of The Year" by sports writers of the Peninsula.

Champion Cagers

Capuchino's cagers have now lengthened their Peninsula League basketball supremacy to four consecutive seasons. This year for the first time, the Mustangs went beyond the limits of their P.L. domain and extended their sovereignty to the Peninsula Basketball Tournament. This not only indicates the exceptional quality of the coaching, but speaks well of the squad's wealth of talent. The team finished this outstanding season rated number two in Northern California.

Jim Johnson, collegiate soccer player, boxing champion, trackster, and basketballer, has coached as many sports as he has played, but prefers basketball because the sport fascinates him. He enjoys the competitive spirit displayed by Capuchino athletes and looks forward hopefully to future victories.

Recollections Of A

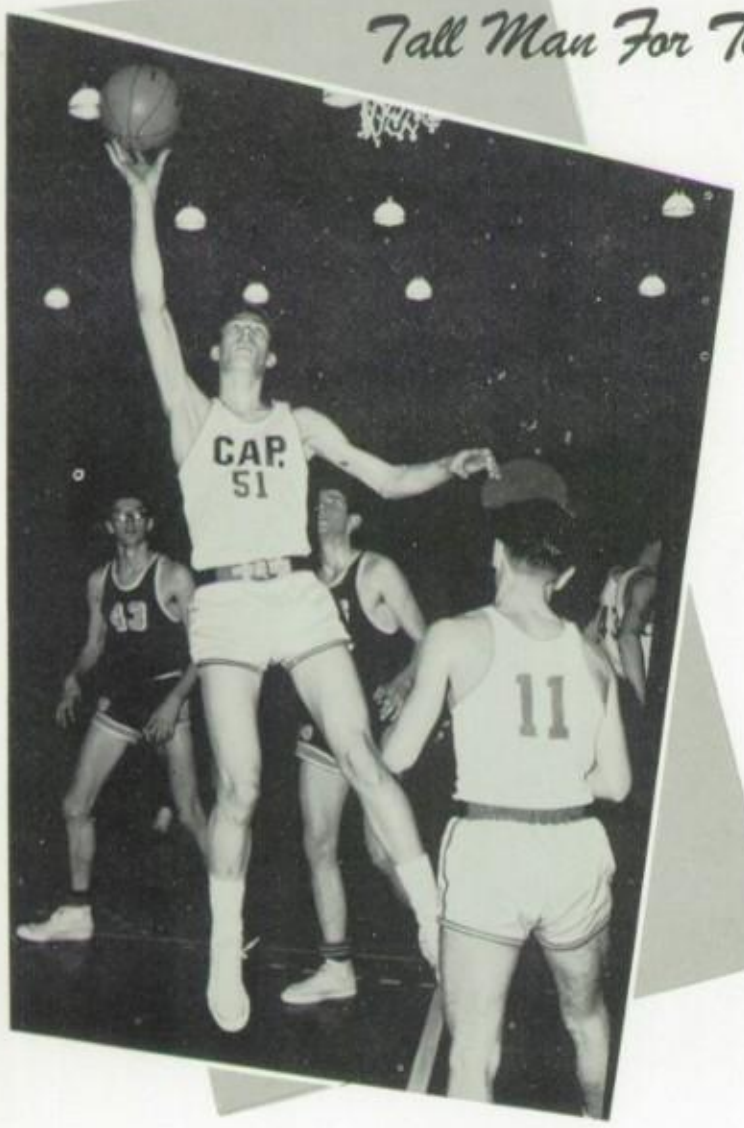
Hey! Give Me That

On the home court, Cap's big green machine rolled to a 67-55 victory against the Rams of Westmoor. Later in the season, the Rams for a time seemed headed for the upset of the year, but again came out on the short end of the score 43-41. Above, Bob Turner, who made second team All-P.L., viciously swipes at the ball.

Up And In

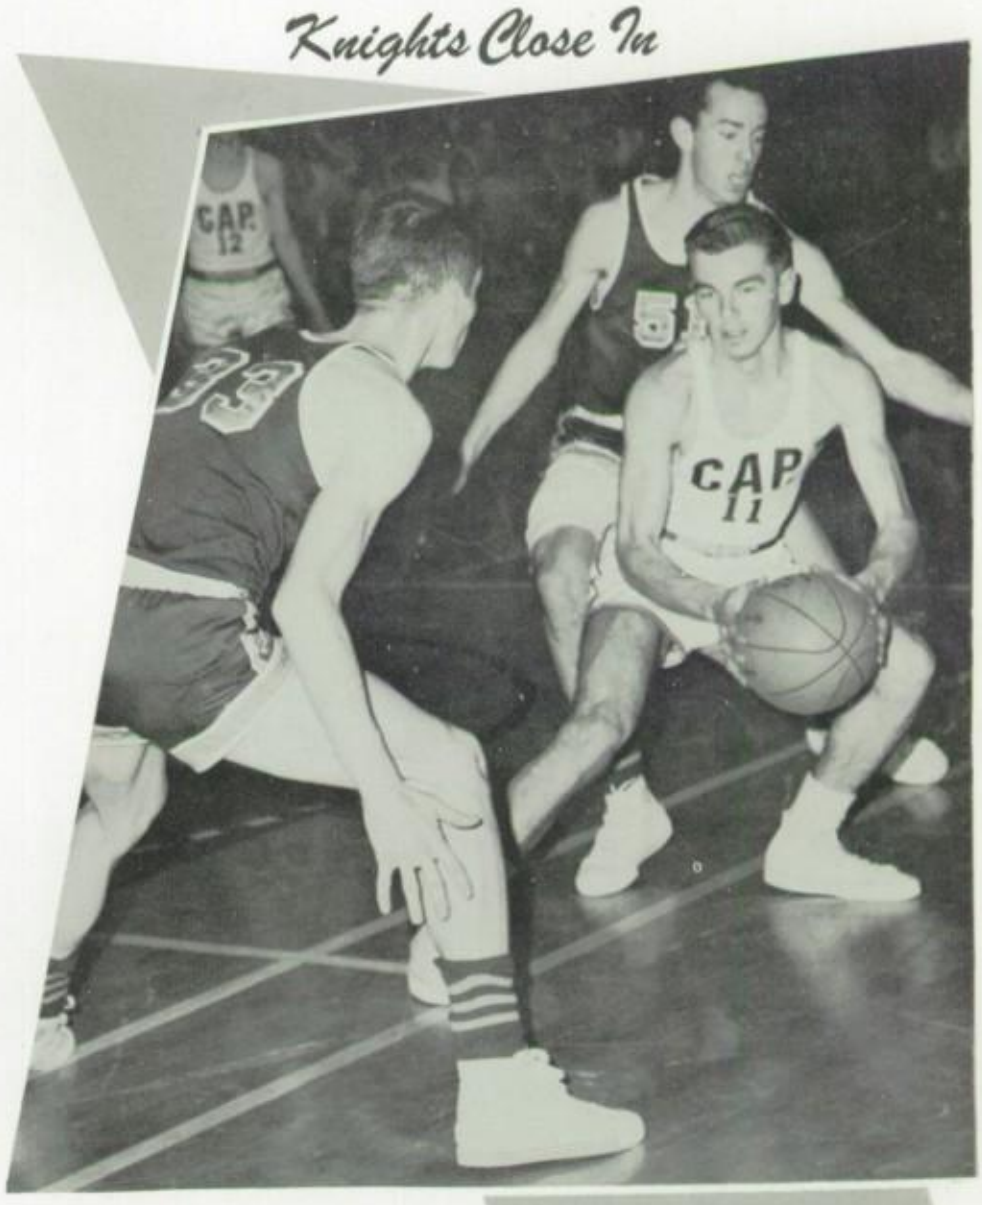
Although San Mateo was a tough foe, the Mustangs had little difficulty downing the Bearcats in their two league encounters 51-40 and 57-46. Above, Mike Bunker, the third guard and also an exceptional defensive player, breaks away from the pack for an easy two points.

Tall Man For Two



The Jefferson Indians, who finished second in league competition, were considered the greatest roadblock to Cap's hopes of retaining the basketball crown. However, Jefferson bowed to the green machine in both meetings, 68-48 and 62-57. Ron Weaver's springy legs enabled him to become one of the leading tip-in artists in the league.

Knights Close In

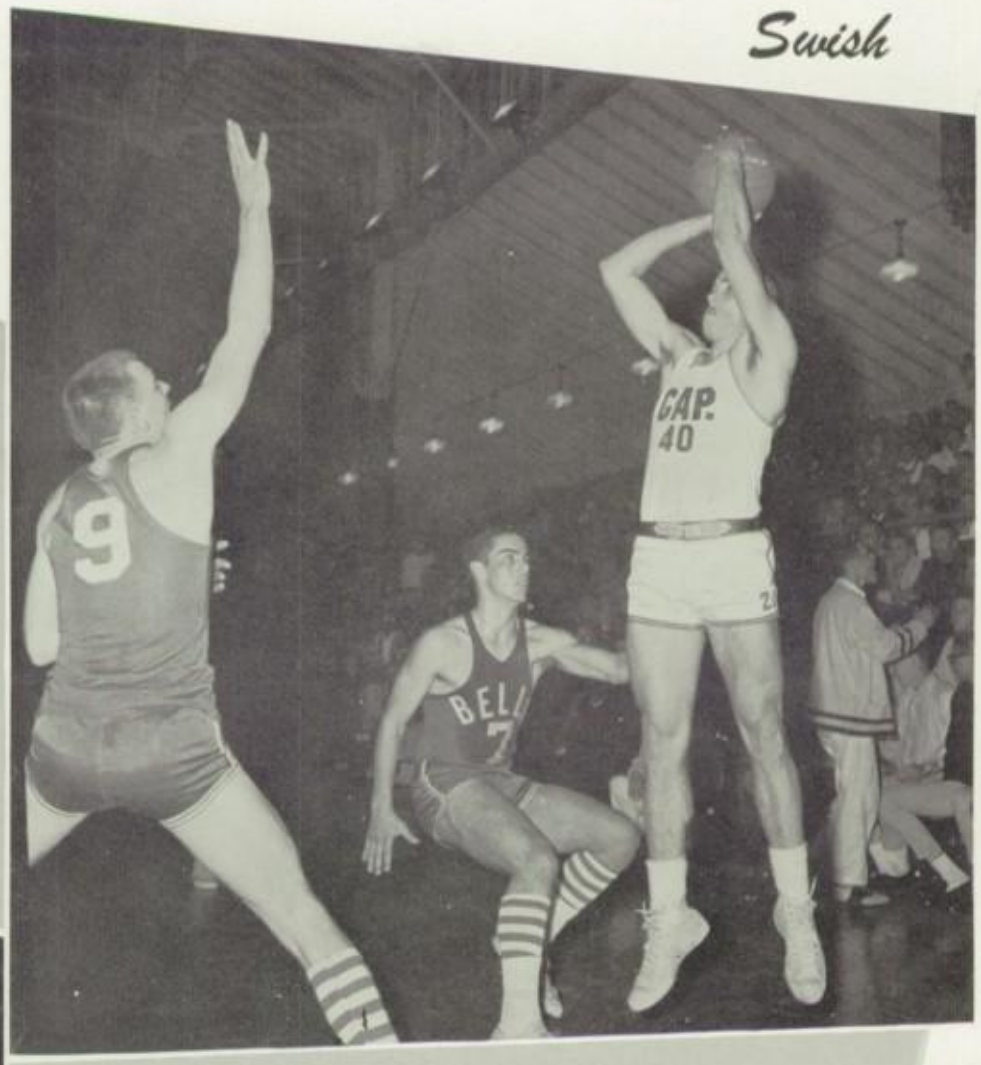


The ever dangerous Knights of Hillsdale, out to revenge their 44-38 loss at the hands of the Mustangs earlier in the season, destroyed Cap's bid for an undefeated P.L. season with their 40-48 upset victory. Above, Hillsdale basketballers close in on Greg Rodgers, one of the slickest ball handlers in the league. Rodgers made first team All-P.L. and All-Tourney at the Peninsula League and Stanford Tournaments.

Victorious Season

Cap's hoopsters qualified for the Peninsula Basketball Tournament championship game by outscoring the deadly sharpshooters from Bellarmine 56-47. At right, the camera caught Randy Rothman in the act of making two of the twenty-eight points he scored in the game. Rothman, first team selection in the Palo Alto Invitational, Peninsula League, and Stanford Tournaments and All-P.L., did more than his share to make it a winning season.

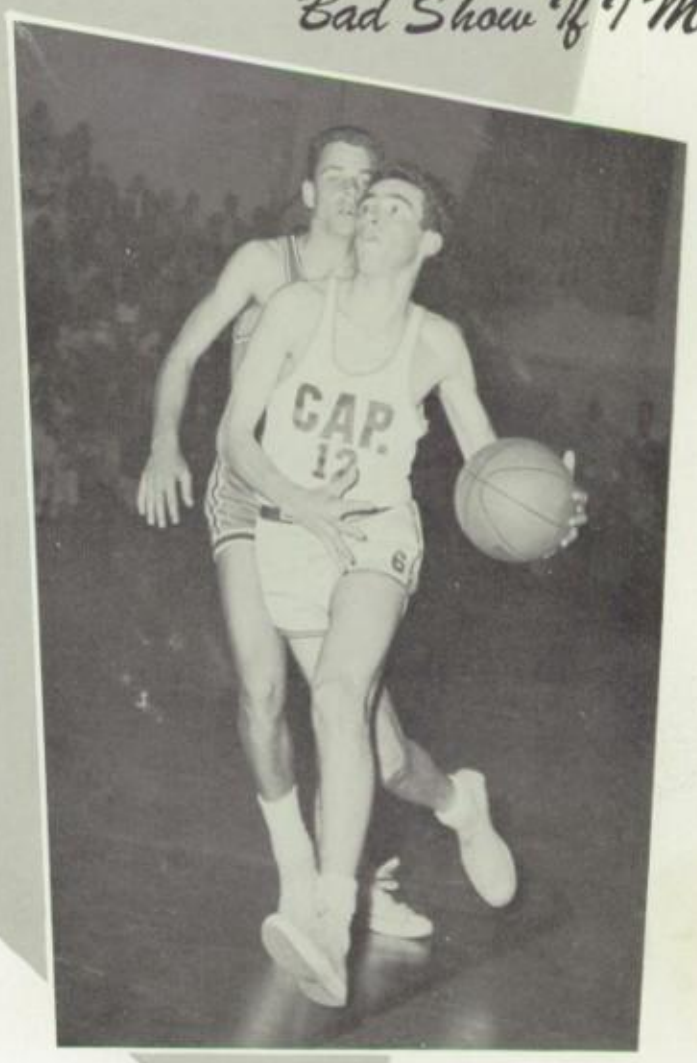
Swish



I'll Take That

The championship game of the Stanford Tournament pitted Capuchino against Washington. These two highly rated ball clubs provided one of the most exciting contests of the year, with the Mustangs emerging victorious 45-42. Mike Claudon, pictured above, second team All-League, was a tough man on the boards all season.

Bad Show If I Miss



As the fleeting moments of the Washington game drew to a close, John Baugh, a playmaking guard and P.L. Honorable Mention cager, added another two points to the Mustangs' winning tally. Trailing until the last minute and fifty-seven seconds, the Peninsula League Champions once again racked up one of their come-from-behind victories.

Wrestling

A prominent wrestler in his own right, Coach Fiebig acquired many collegiate wrestling crowns: Regional Olympics, Far Western and Pacific Coast Championships. He also took third in National A.A.U. wrestling competition.

Pictures capturing moments from our senior year.

Always..."

The class of '61 entered Cap in the fall of 1957. We were then the largest incoming class in Cap's history, and as freshmen we were swept up in the whirl of glory and success known as Cap's "Golden Era." This was the year that Cap just couldn't be beaten. We were the champs in all ways; the infant of the Peninsula League had grown into an undefeatable giant.

Our class officers, Gary Orton, president; Judy Brockway, vice-president; Nan Thompson, secretary; and Pat Connel, treasurer, led us in many successful activities beginning with a get-acquainted box social. Other projects included decoration of the school's Christmas tree, a charity food drive, and a Work Week in which we raised money to bring an exchange student to Cap.

Guiding our officers and council that year were Advisors Adolph Harrison, Colburn T. Palmer and Pearl Morgenstern. A standout during our freshman year was Gary Orton, winner of the Max M. Russell Leadership Award.

The school year of '58-'59 began with many new hopes and ideals. Taking over as new head advisor, Billie Hallberg aided our sophomore class officers—Rich St. Clair, president; Nan Thompson, vice-president; Nancy McIsaac, secretary; and Tom Ogg, treasurer.

Activities that met with much success were a charity food drive, a Work Week, victory in an intramural track meet, and selection of class rings. The outstanding event of the year was the introduction of the first annual senior-underclassmen tug-of-war. The class will remember when a group of junior and sophomore boys led by Rich St. Clair kidnapped the senior class president. Upon his release he challenged the offenders to a tug-of-war over " a pit of slime." With their usual enthusiasm, the underclassmen were victorious.

Standouts in our sophomore year were our first football princess Mardella Dragovich; language award winners Caren Switzer and Linda Fowler; American Optical Association essay contest winner Eugene Powell; Frosh-Soph Cheerleaders Elfrieda Fox, Linda DeBattista, Toni Bommarito; and Tom Ogg, winner of the Max M. Russell Leadership Award.

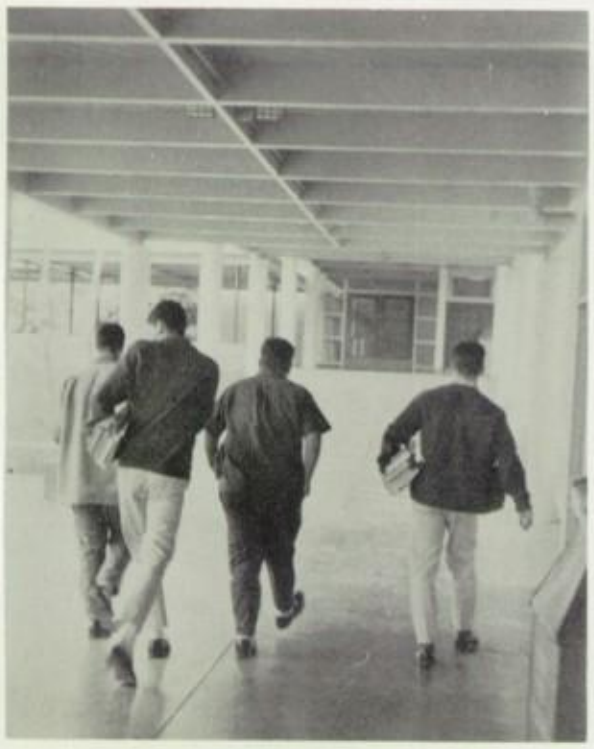
Achievement and success characterized the junior year of '59-'60 as Tom Ogg, president; Art Solomon, vice-president; Ellen Luthi, secretary; and Bob Charrot, treasurer, were the officers. During the year the class cleared its debts and for the first time was operating "out of the red." Added to our advisory staff was Keith Bedford.

Among successful class activities were game concessions and a class bulletin board. The second annual tug-of-war was a draw due to an untimely breaking of the rope.

Our Junior Prom, "Fantasia" was the biggest event of the year. Held in the cafeteria on May 14, 1960, with the help of a professional decorator and a catering service, it became the most elaborate and successful prom every held at Capuchino.

Exceptionals for our junior year were Doreen Owens, football princess; Ken Odell, language award winner, and Ron Livesgood who was chosen as an AFS exchange student to Switzerland.

This year we have reached the magic number 1961! Leading us are senior officers Art Solomon, president; Ellen Luthi, vice-president; Alexis Okulove, secretary; Ingo Baursachs, treasurer; and our advisors, who this year were aided by Sally Mace and Archie Marshik.



Activities have been numerous, among the most successful of which have been the Senior get-together during the summer and the Senior-Faculty game. By far the most important event of our senior year was our fabulous Senior Ball "Winter Champagne." Taking place in the Champagne Room of the beautiful Hilton Inn, on February 4, 1961, the Ball was a gala event always to be remembered.

Outstanding names for this year were Senior Football Princess Diane Frisbie and Football Queen Judy Brockway; Cap's Olympic star Pat Daniels; Ulli Klopf and Fethi Heper, our two exchange students; Virginia Gilbrech, Richard Lerman, Ron Weaver and Joyce Thompson who represented Cap at this year's All Western States Musical Revue at Santa Monica; and of course all of the "Senior Standouts."

There it is: a summary of our goals and achievements, the victories and highlights of our years at Cap, our activities as the Class of '61. We entered during Cap's "Golden Era," and throughout our four years as members of the Associated Student Body we have kept the standards high. As we achieved and progressed, so did Cap. Our era at Capuchino has truly been a golden one.

Ken Paige

Reyanne Torlucci

Claudia Stout

Midway through their high school life, the juniors have played an important part in the terrific Cap spirit and enthusiasm.

Their officers, Ken Paige, president; Doug Moyer, vice-president; Claudia Stout, secretary; Donna Olinger, treasurer; and Reyanne Torlucci, historian, guided the class through a successful Junior Prom, "Moonlit Jade." Getting class rings, having a sock-hop and box social, and operating money-raising concessions were outstanding events of the year.

The class of '62 has worked industriously on committees, in athletics, and various clubs to keep Cap exciting.

Wally Bunker

Vicki Dryden

The class of '63 found that their second year at Cap flew by because of all the memorable activities they undertook. Their active President Vicki Dryden, with the help of Vice-President Wally Bunker, Secretary Virginia Botti, and Treasurer Diane Picetti, provided an eventful sophomore year.

Included among the numerous undertakings were: an after-game dance, concessions, and most important the selecting and ordering of class rings.

Fastidious Freshmen

Vicki Musgrave

Bill Giachino

Mary Bauguess

Mary Fox

Freshman class officers Bill Giachino, president; Mary Fox, vice-president; Vicki Musgrave, secretary; and Mary Bauguess, treasurer, led their record-breaking class of 752 students in many interesting and enjoyable events. Highlights of the year included decoration of the school Christmas tree, a box social, and food drive.

The fastidious freshmen continue to grow as they find classes and activities to stimulate interest and achievement.

"What do you mean I'm not standing on my chalk marks!"

Who do you think looks good in the fourth?

Cap

I know! But I can't always brush my teeth after meals.

I think he's kind of cute.

Don't laugh, there were 18 of them and they were coming right at me.

Nightly Pin-up!

Candids

Hey Steve! What does he mean they're too short?

The night they invented champagne.

I know—we'll fry it!

Glub!

Boy! Those electric blankets warm up fast.

The Capuchino student never quits.

Cap '61 In Perspective

We, the staff, hope that we have effectively captured some of the incidents and impressions of the year '61 . . .

—Studies: inquiry, enlightenment, achievement, honors, encouraged by our distinguished faculty

—Sports: determination, teamwork, prestige, fame won by Cap's champion athletes

—Activities: sparkle, brilliance, gaiety, excitement of bright colors, the mood for the superlative Mustang spirit

. . . blended into memorable moments at Capuchino, where the perspective is as high as the standards sought by all who respect and admire its fine tradition of excellence.
